Welcome to the Football-Bet-Data user guide.

Our website is specifically designed to make your life easier. Bringing together a myriad of football detail and providing an easy vessel in which you can filter and slice to your output needs. Football-Bet-Data has evolved over the years, mainly through user interaction and suggestions. All feedback given to us is taken on board and fully considered where reasonably practicable so we openly encourage user interaction and feedback.

Please be aware that we make no claims about how much money you could make as the result of any output, you should never afford to gamble what you can't afford to lose. It is important to understand that Football-Bet-Data is just a tool to enable you to analyse and manipulate past and upcoming data for your individual needs.

Please take a moment to read through the remainder of this instruction guide which is intended to assist in navigation around our website and the relevant features.

Set Up

All that is required to access our site is web browsing facilities. The website will work with all varieties of browser, including ones designed for tablets and smart phones.

To output information you will need an active and validated version of Microsoft Excel.

System Requirements

No specific requirements, as long as you have a stable internet connection, web browsing functionality and Microsoft Excel for downloading and export.

Menu Bar

Home

This is the home page and landing page. From here you can sign in, join up, and download the current day's download file. You can also view our latest tweets which is a handy place for the latest news and updates.

Membership Options

Join Up Today – The Registration page for sign up. Username should be your valid email address, password (which is encrypted and fully protected) and your membership type (Basic, Monthly recurring, Joint Monthly recurring which gives access to both FBD and RBD, Annual Recurring and Joint Annual).

Payment for advanced membership is processed through Paypal, the world's number 1 payment gateway. All payments made are secure, Paypal offers additional buyer and seller protection. Data Archive – This section is the engine room of the site, and allows users to generate bespoke output. The filters should be pretty self explanatory and where possible we have added pop up hints and keys which can be accessed by clicking or positioning the cursor over the respective key as shown below in yellow.

D3	germany 3-liga	DE1	denmark superliga	DE2	denmark 1st-division	E0	england premier-league

The site gives the ability to save a preset criteria and name it, so the top part of the dashboard allows the user to easily recall their named set of criteria as shown below, here we don't have any preset criteria named or saved.

Please note...

that score predictions are only generated after the home team has played 6 home games, and the away team has played 6 away games of the current season. Games without a score prediction can still be displayed by ensuring the "Include matches with no prediction" box is ticked.

To generate output from the dashboard, you will need to select at least one option from each set of filters, ensuring that output is not conflicting. As mentioned each section should be pretty self explaining, when you have your criteria ticked you can output the results, either to screen (by selecting get results) which will include a couple of summary tables at the bottom of the output detailing the profitability.

You are also able to then export the full output to Excel if you wish by clicking the "Extract full data below to Excel" button situated above the data output and below the dashboard filters. Or if you didn't want to send the output to screen and cut out some time, you could just select "Direct to Excel" to set the output straight to Excel. Please note, outputs are restricted to 30,000 rows at a time, this is to prevent your PC and our servers going into meltdown by trying to process a range of data too large for system capabilities. Basic members have access restricted to 10 lines and only data in the past can be viewed.

Fixtures & Results

– If its pure scores and results you need, this page will offer the output desired without any of the bells and whistles. You can extract data specific leagues and seasons using the filters and exporting to screen or Excel.

Head to Head

– From here you are able to compare the league history of two teams. As with all of our site, play off and cup games are not included within the data set. You can tick the option “Include both home and away games” which does as it suggests and does not limit the output to home team at home only. The output can be sent to screen, which includes further analysis of the teams meetings, or to Excel for further manipulation if required.

Selection Management

– For advanced members only, this menu option will allow you to create, name, amend, delete and use a preset list of criteria. Very useful if you are regularly checking the same type of criteria. It maybe that you want to check games that are predicted to be 0-0 in a certain league. You can enter a name for this “system” then go about ticking the criteria you require (please ensure that at least one selection is made in each set of filter criteria and that no filters are conflicting). This is exactly the same method as you would use on the main dashboard, however at the end of the filters you have the option to “Save” rather than export. Once the system is saved, you can click “Use” to self populate the fields you have chosen on the main dashboard, you can then select this each day (or how ever often you desire) from the main dashboard by clicking the system you require. Using the selection Management page you can amend this, delete this or create others at any time. There is no limit to the amount of preset systems you create and save. These systems are unique to your login so nobody else will have access to them. Systems will also remain if you cancel your subscription and then re-upgrade again at some time in the future.

How to Use

– A page with some basic example videos to give an overview of the website and some of its functions. These can fall out of date quite quickly where new functions and features are added, we try to update these as frequently as practicable.

Example Downloads

– Some example extras of sample data intended to give the user some “outside the box” demonstrations of how some of our data could be used. This is by no means intended to show a way to make a profit in betting, it is purely an indication of the net level that you can go to with data output. We try to keep these up to date and add in new examples where required.

Bespoke Datasets

– We understand that sometimes users require just that little bit more, that is not obtainable from our outputs, or the user requires some analysis beyond their skill level. Requesting a bespoke data set will allow us to provide a quotation (where possible) to provide what the user is looking for. This option is open to both basic and advanced members alike.

About the site
